Special Music City Star train to July 4th fireworks sells out again

The Regional Transportation Authority of Middle Tennessee's (RTA) July 4th Music City Star train to the celebration at Nashville's Riverfront Park was a sellout again.

The round-trip ticket is considered a bargain in both the affordable $14 price and the convenience it provides. Riders can avoid the congested drive to Nashville, the headache of parking, and the post fireworks traffic jam leaving only the stress-free enjoyment of one of the most impressive fireworks displays

A total of 950 tickets were available to the public for the special excursion train. Tickets went on sale June 1 and sold out on June 13 – three weeks prior to the holiday.

Each year for the event, the train departs from Lebanon Station, stops in Martha, Mt. Juliet, Hermitage and Donelson and arrives at Nashville's Riverfront Station at 5 p.m. The return train to Lebanon leaves 30 minutes after the fireworks show ends.

Riders board the 4th of July train.

Northwest Corridor Study now underway

A Northwest Corridor Transit Study to evaluate transit options between Clarksville and Nashville is underway. Approximately 100 interested stakeholders attended community sessions, the first of which was held at the Clarksville Chamber of Commerce. The meeting was one of three sessions held during the month of April in Clarksville, Ashland City and Nashville.

The study will build upon previous efforts and will examine enhanced, cost-effective transit improvements in the northwest corridor and address anticipated traffic growth and congestion along Interstate 24.

"The level of excitement and support from the public and local officials for a transit solution along this corridor is encouraging," RTA Director of Planning and Grants Felix Castrodad said.

The Northwest Corridor Transit Study team is working with RTA to establish the Northwest Corridor Advisory Committee (NCAC) that will provide guidance for the public outreach and engagement of the larger community, as well as input on the need and purpose for the project, the alternatives, which will be studied, and the evaluation criteria that will be used (including cost) to screen and evaluate alternatives. Mayor Hutto driving force behind St. Jude Music City Marathon Train

Corridor Study open house, Clarksville

Wilson County Mayor Randall Hutto and Premier Orthopaedics and Sports Medicine in Lebanon combined efforts in late April to get runners to and from Lebanon and surrounding areas to the 2015 St. Jude Music City Marathon using the Music City Star.

Premier Orthopaedics, who sponsored the special train service, is not only a large player in sports medicine in Wilson County but throughout the region with 11 locations covering Davidson, Rutherford and Wilson Counties.

Premier's Physicians and physical therapists were onboard the train travelling to and from the marathon, advising participants on how to prepare for the run and how to care for aching muscles afterwards, a win-win for Premier, marathon runners and the Music City Star.

"In Wilson County, we are always looking for ways to utilize the train not only taking people into Nashville but also bringing people out of Nashville, and this just seemed to be like a perfect marriage," Hutto said.

The $12 excursion train was the brainchild of Mayor Hutto who wanted to promote Wilson County and the use of the Music City Star. The partnership between Wilson County and Premier Orthopaedics is expected to continue annually with proceeds going to St. Jude.
